BRO. BALLOU SEEKING LIGHT, Which We Ever Cheerfully Give to Those In Darkness.

To the Editor of the Interior Journal.
Your type, in last Tuesday's issue made me say that the liquor interest in Massachusetts, etc., was "implanted" by a subsidized press. Please read "supplemented."

I had hoped, as the Interior JOURNAL and Mr. Warren had raised the issue and brought it before the people, as to our prohibition law taking away from the people the right of self government, that you would at least attempt to meet a denial. But instead you come forth with the information that said law and other laws punishing wrong-doers did not originate alike. Everybody knew the origin of this law and there is no dispute about that. We asked you to tell your readers wherein the prohibitory law differs from the other laws of our State (punishing wrong-doers) in depriving the people of the right of self government. You simply dodge the question. You and your party have frequently reminded us that the prohibition law was passed by the democratic party. You know they can admit it at will.

How do the people of this country govern themselves? By electing their law makers and other officers.

If the people want to repeal the law prohibiting the sale of intoxicants in this county, they can elect their representative upon that issue, and the work will be done. If they wish to repeal the law punishing chicken thieves, they can elect their man on that issue and it will be done.

The process is precisely the same in each case. Hence it is seen clearly that there is no disfranchisement in the case, and every lawyer in the State who knows how to draw an indictment, knows it. The hue and cry about this great tyrannical law being like the laws of the Medes and Persians, irreconcileable and inexorable, is absolutely a "false alarm" in camp. If any party in the county wants the prohibition law out of the way, let that party call away their champion from whipping the devil around the stump of "private opinion" and let them have the moral courage to move upon this law of the Medes and Persians in the short, easy and manly way, with the real issue before the people and ask the people to vote for him.

If you are anxious for the people to have the right to vote again on prohibition in this county, as you pretend, the way is open. Mr. Warren is against the law, let him say, "If a majority vote for me, I shall know the majority are against it and as I and the majority are opposed to prohibition, I will have the law repealed." There is nothing unfair in that, besides it is the cheapest way to a settlement of a question that concerns others as well as prohibitionists. Possibly the city council of Stanford are looking in that direction. Let us, gentlemen, have no sham battle. Respectfully,

JOS. BALLOU.

Elder Ballou has so recently reentered the paternal doctrines of the republican party that much allowance should be made for the difficulty he finds in grasping even so simple a democratic truth as that the people should be permitted to govern themselves. As he seems sincerely incapable of understanding the perfectly obvious distinction we pointed out to him in the last issue of this paper, we will endeavor once more, in all conciseness, to make it plain.

The general laws of the State, while in theory enacted by the people at large, are in fact made by the people's agents or representatives composing the legislature. This, because it is manifestly impossible for two millions of people to assemble, consult and act together. Laws are made denouncing murder, larceny and similar crimes, because they are universally recognized as being in themselves subversive of the social fabric. A murderer, even, though he might probably object to being hanged in his own person, would not contend that murder was no public offense. And yet, if we could conceive of a state of society in which the majority regarded murder as a fine art to be encouraged and applauded, then under the theory of a free government all laws against homicide should be and would be repealed, and we should have a pretty kettle of fish indeed. The only possible remedy against this, we beg to assure Elder B., lies in the virtue and intelligence of the people. In the case we have supposed, however, a majority of the whole of society, or of the State, and not of any fractional part merely, must concur in this opinion.
The people of our county, for instance, could not, though our correspondent seems to think so, pronounce in favor of murder and expect the legislature to exempt it from its penalties, for the reason that every citizen of the State is concerned in and endangered by an unpunished murder committed anywhere in its jurisdiction. Crimes of this character therefore, known to lawmen as under the sun, are dealt with only by the aggregate sovereignty, by the whole people, of the State and cannot be relegated to the control of the people of special localities. We are conscious of going very slow in our explanation, and of being tedious, perhaps to the well-informed, but we are determined that Bro. B. shall peradventure have enlightenment as to this matter, and we hope that he follows us.

Now then. The making, selling or drinking of a glass of wine, or whisky if you please, is not of itself a crime, though unhappily it may and frequently does lead to crime. It may therefore properly be regulated or even wholly prohibited by law. It then becomes modus prohibita, or an offense simply because it is forbidden. The legislature of Kentucky, and in fact most of the States, has, wisely we think, treated this particular question in a novel way. It saw that laws dealing with modus prohibita only, could never be enforced except when sustained by popular sentiment, that if not enforced they were worse than dead-letter, breeding petrification and encouraging habitual contempt for law, and that for these reasons a law which might be enforced beneficially in some communities might not be enforceable and would therefore prove harmful in others. The legislature therefore waived its sovereignty in making power as to the matter of prohibition, and expressly relegated the question to the people themselves in the various counties and precincts. It said in effect to the people of each locality:
"You best know your local needs, you are authorized, if you so please, to prohibit the sale of liquor in your locality.
If after trying it you find it to promote vice instead of temperance, then you shall have the power to revise your own action. In short, we remand the whole control of the matter to the discretion, the good sense and the experience of the people immediately concerned, and wash our hands of any impertinent interference." This is the well-known and settled policy of the State, and no legislation in future, we dare to say, will directly either prohibit or permit the sale of liquor in any of the counties. A member asking such legislation will be told, properly and consistently, that this matter has been referred to his people who must settle it among themselves.
Lincoln county by its present prohibitory law was singled out and made an exception. An act was smuggled through submitting this question to our people over and over again until it was carried, and then by its terms no wine, beer or whisky could ever in the future be sold for any purpose whatever. No provision was made for an expression of the people in case they should again change their minds; no provision was made for a repeal of the law if every man and woman in the county for good reason desired it.
Thus Lincoln, alone of the counties, has no further voice in this matter of purely local concern, because
and the legislature wisely holds that we,
the people, must settle it ourselves.
Brother Ballou opines that the "short, easy, manly way" of getting at it would be to make the direct repeal of the law by the legislature an issue before the people. "A manly way," it may be remarked en passim, that the prohibitionists were careful not to adopt with the legislature originally, when they themselves asked its reference to the people.
We have already given one reason why the democracy could not tender such an issue. There is another reason. Democrats do not want the net repealed. They care nothing whatever about it one way or the other as a party measure. Their only purpose, and that we may rest assured will be accomplished, is to restore the people of Lincoln county by an amendment of their law, the inalienable right to control their own affairs, in their own way and at their own times.

We fully endorse Mr. Warren's position on this question because it is perfectly fair and just to all shades of opinion, because if the law is favored by a majority it will be retained and doubtless prove of benefit, while if it is opposed by a majority it becomes a vicious trap and dead-letter and should be repealed, and because moreover his position is purely and soundly democratic.
And in concluding we beg to announce that in our opinion a man may believe and advocate all this and still remain an honest man and a good citizen, may and even be a true friend to the cause of temperance than many an unscrupulous one who does not know the difference between the use and abuse of a natural right, or pharisee who cries out in the market place, "Because I am virtuous there shall be no evildoers."

HON. R. C. WARREN, Democratic candidate for Representative, will speak at the following times and places: Hillard Smith's School-House, Monday July 8; Ugland, Tuesday, July 9th; Griffith's Mill, Wednesday, July 10th; Hillard's Mill, Thursday, July 11th; Ottineheim, Friday, 12th; Cobb Orchard, Saturday, 13th; Higgins' School-House, Tuesday 16th; Maywood, Wednesday, July 17th; Blouse's School House, Thursday, July 18th; Hubbell, Friday, July 19th; McKinney, Saturday, July 20th; Milledgeville, Saturday, July 21st; Preachersville, on Saturday, August 3d.
At 2 o'clock P. M. at each place.
Time will be divided with other candidates for the office.

Constitutional Ineligibility of Preachers.
To the Editor Interior Journal.

CRAZ ORCHARD, July 1.—Having been requested by many citizens, several of whom live in Stanford, to address the people upon the ineligibility of preachers to the General Assembly of Kentucky, and as I cannot be at Stanford today, I send you for publication a few lines upon that subject. In doing so I do not wish to take my part in favor of one nor against the other of the two worthy gentlemen now before the people as candidates for the legislature. In some of my raves I have had as many as 20 orators, black and white, set after me and chased like a fox with a fresh pack of dogs put after me at every crossing. I always looked upon this as unmanly and I don't wish to indulge in it myself.

Now then. The making, selling or
unhappily it may and frequently does
by law. It then becomes modus prohibita,
forbidden. The legislature of Kentucky, and in fact most of the States, has, wisely we
think, treated this particular question in
ular sentiment, that if not enforced they
a law which might be enforced benefici-
prove harmful in others. The legisla-
making power as to the matter of prohibi-
tion to the people themselves in the various counties and precincts. It said in effect to the people of each locality:
"You best know your local needs, you
are authorized, if you so please, to prohibit the sale of liquor in your locality.
If after trying it you find it to promote
action. In short, we remand the whole
control of the matter to the discretion,

sale of liquor in any of the counties. A
matter has been referred to his people
who must settle it among themselves.
Lincoln county by its present prohibitory
law was singled out and made an ex-
over and over again until it was carried,
for any purpose whatever. No provision
was made for an expression of the people
in the county for good reason desired it.
and the legislature wisely holds that we,
the people, must settle it ourselves.
Brother Ballou opines that the "short,
easy, manly way" of getting at it would
people. "A manly way," it may be remarked en passim, that the prohibitionists
were careful not to adopt with the legislature originally, when they themselves asked its reference to the people.
crats do not want the net repealed. They
the people of Lincoln county by an
right to control their own affairs, in their own way and at their own times.

Now to the constitutionality of the question. Article 2d Sec. 27 of the Constitution of Kentucky reads as follows:
"No person, while he continues to exercise the functions of a clergyman, priest, or teacher of any religious persuasion, society or sect shall be eligible to the General Assembly." This language is too plain to be misunderstood, and had not the word "continues" been used there could be no ground whatever for controversy, and when you interpret this constitutional provision according to the reason and spirit of it, there can be no doubt about its true meaning. It is a well-known fact that in England they have an established religion, and the people are taxed to pay the ministry, but in this country the eternal separation of Church and State is one of the grand and cardinal principles of our government, both State and National, and the framers of our National and State policy have guarded against this possible evil, the former and latter, by constitutional provisions, one prohibiting Congress from making any law respecting an establishment of religion, and the other by excluding ministers from the General Assembly and thereby preventing any possibility of the union of Church and State, and the incidental taxing of the people to support the clergy. Under the head of executive in the State Constitution we find that the same disqualification applies also to the governor. Now the framers of the State Constitution had some reason for disqualifying clergymen from serving in either branch of the General Assembly and also from acting as governor. The true reason of this constitutional inhibition has been assigned above. Nor can a preacher by a mere temporary suspension of his functions throw off this ineligibility and evade a constitutional provision and qualify himself to serve in either House? To every constitutional lawyer the answer is "No!" The evils the Constitution intended to guard against in that section would be as imminent as if the clergyman was still exercising the functions of a minister. The bias, the prejudice, the hatred toward other denominations would continue the same. The desire to unite Church and State and to tax the people to pay the clergy of which he is still a member would be as great. What is meant by "so long as he continues to exercise the functions of a clergyman?" It means this.
Not that there can be any temporary suspension and consequent qualification, but if a man has once in his past life exercised the functions of a clergyman and has abandoned the ministry the fact that he was once a minister does not disqualify him from serving in the legislature. He may have abandoned the ministry for the law, or some other profession or avocation in which case he would clearly eligible to a seat in either House, or to the office of governor. But a provision of law, and much less a great constitutional provision, cannot be thus trifled with nor evaded. Wishing to be heard from in a future issue upon the power of the county judge to grant license to druggists to sell liquor, I will close this article.

FONTAINE FOX BOHANNON.

Say Judge, peruse this from the Frankfort Capital and see if it is not just like we told you:

Judge Robert Boyd, who does not seem to know as much as he should about the liberty of the press, is missing from the pages of the press, which are saying a great many things about him in connection with the indictment which he procured to be turned against W. P. Walton, of the Interior JOURNAL. The Judge should subscribe for all the State papers, buy a pair of scissors and a scrap book, and prepare some nice personal reading with which to while away the long and weary hours which will come to him when his term has expired and he has returned to that private life for which he seems to have been originally intended.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

The Prince of Wales' daughter, Louise, has been betrothed to the Earl of Fife, who is as old as his prospective daddy-in-law.

Fannin Prewitt and Miss Bettie Curtis celebrated the glorious 4th by uniting their destinies. The ceremony occurred at McKinney.
Time will be divided with other candidates for
the office.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—There have been eight deaths in our midst within the last week.

—Considerable sickness prevails, particularly among the children of the town.

—Miss Mary McDowell entertained her friends on Wednesday evening at her elegant country home.

—Mr. Charles Wright, of Missouri, is in Danville, for the purpose, it is reported, of carrying away a Boyle county lad.

—The opening ball at Alum Springs took place Thursday night and was largely attended by the young people of Danville and vicinity.

—For some reason unknown to your correspondent, the trial of Tom Williams for shooting Portwood did not occur on Tuesday and is again postponed.

—Mr. Henry Banford, late of the Advocate reporter staff, has resigned his position with that journal and accepted a clerkship in Mr. Foley's grocery.

—Several of our young society people attended the elegant entertainment given by Mr. B. R. Moore, at Harrodsburg, on Tuesday evening last. The entertainment was given in honor of Hon. D. L.
Moore's two daughters, of Anderson county.

—On Monday a partnership began between Messrs. E. B. Thiele and S.
V. Rowland in the merchant tailoring business, at the stand for some time occupied by Mr. Thiele. This makes a strong union, being in the person of two thorough and deservedly popular business men. Mr. Rowland will be represented by his son, Mr. E. S. Rowland.

—It is rare that our community is so thoroughly shocked as it was on Monday when the news came to town that Allie Lee had been drowned. The accident occurred in Dix river, back of Mr. Pope's near the point known as the "pipes." He had gone down in company with four companions to bathe. The river was greatly swollen and the current very swift. Allie, first, and alone, entered the water, was cautioned to be careful and a moment later cried for help; having gotten into the current he appreciated the danger. His call was promptly and nobly responded to by Mr. James Fisher, one of the party, but on reaching him found he was unable to stand the current and the death grasp of Allie, who had thrown his arms about Fisher's neck and once taken him under the water; and had a hard struggle to get away and out again. The river was visited at once by innumerable friends and search for the body instituted, but it was not found until Tuesday morning about 9 o'clock, some three-quarters of a mile below where it sank. The funeral took place at the home of his parents, on Broadway, Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, and was very largely attended.
The burial was one of beauty yet simplicity, the floral tributes being numerous and handsome. Allie W. Lee, was the eldest child of Mr. E. W. Lee, president of the Citizens Bank here. He was in his 18th year, the pride of the home circle and esteemed by all who knew him for his gentlemanly demeanor, and particularly admired by those who knew him best for his ideal manhood in his devotion to his mother. He was a model of manly beauty, bright and intelligent, full of promise for a useful life, loved at home, adored in the circle of his acquaintance, and his death is the sadder regret of all who knew him.

Speaking of Gov. McCrory as a Semitorial probability, Argyle says in the Lebanon Standard:
"His abilities are of the useful kind.
He is a good business man, a hard worker and in whatever position he may be placed he contrives to command respect.
He is not a great orator, but when he speaks his remarks are appropriate and to the point. Justice John M. Harlan was considered a first-class orator, but in the canvass of 1875 Mr. McCrory was so far master of the pending issue that he indisputably got the better of Mr. Harlan.
Many persons who, like the writer, heard their joint discussion at Campbellsville will be prepared to confirm this statement. Mr. McCrory always knows what he is talking about and he does not 'slop over,' two characteristics which are conspicuously wanting to some of our public men, and which, in the opinion of thoughtful people, are worth a good deal of brilliancy."

—Miss Grace Ward sued a manufacturer of cigarettes for $10,000 for giving away with each package a portrait of herself clad in tights, and gained her suit. This will put a stop to this disreputable practice. Miss Ward never appeared in tights, yet her face is attached to a portrait which is very immodest.</

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., JULY 5, 1889.

W. P. WALTON.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

State Treasurer,
STEPHEN G. SHARPE.

FOR STATE SENATOR,
R. J. BRECKINRIDGE, OF BOYLE.

For Representative, Lincoln County,
RICHARD C. WARREN.

The Norfolk & Western furnishes the latest railroad horror. The heavy rains had washed out its track about 30 miles from Lynchburg, Va., and when a passenger train of an engine and eight coaches came dashing along Monday night in the darkness the entire train plunged into an abyss filled with water more than 12 feet deep. The sudden cooling of the engine caused it to explode and throw pieces of iron and firebrands into the air, adding further to the death and destruction. The exposed parts of the cars took fire from the brands and those of the passengers who had escaped immediate death were reserved for a more awful end. It is said that more than 50 persons were either burned up or killed outright and fully as many more injured. A survivor says the horror of the moment cannot be described. The despairing cries for help, with no one to come to their rescue, were enough to freeze the blood of those who helplessly watched the destruction. It was the worst catastrophe of the kind that ever occurred in the State and the people are horrified beyond measure.

The public debt statement shows that during the fiscal year just ended its reduction amounted to $88,938,035, leaving the total, less cash, of $1,076,646,621. The democratic administration is responsible for the reduction, but if Tanner keeps the pace he is going the balance will be on the other side of the account by the next 12 months. The statement shows that the pension charge for the past year was $87,087,682, or about eight millions more than for the previous fiscal year. With total receipts during the year amounting to $388,591,675, and total expenditures aggregating $285,000,000 the surplus revenue will amount to $106,000,000, against $119,612,116 for the year before. And still the collection of taxes beyond the necessities of an economically-administered government goes on and will till the people rise in their might and put a stop to it, by preventing the purchase of the government by republican millions.

The returns of the late election in Pennsylvania were officially canvassed Monday, when it was found that there were 484,644 votes against and 295,617 for the prohibition amendment, making a majority of 188,027 against the proposition. The total vote was 781,161 in a voting population of 898,862 in 1880. As Fisk only got 20,047 votes in November last, the prohibitionists with their usual simplicity will cry out "great gains," but it is not as a third party proposition. There are thousands of democrats and republicans, who think prohibition the best means of dealing with the whisky question and will vote for it every time when divested of politics, who wouldn't touch it with a 40-foot pole when it is run in as a third party measure.

MANY of the third party men of this county are old sore-back, so-called democrats, who were anxious for some place to fall save into the republican ranks, where they properly belong. Finding the prohibition party will offer but a poor and short asylum, they will finally drift to their level and then they'll be happy. They never were democrats and we for one will be glad to see them take their final exit from the party, if they are always to be a disturbing element.

If the State Central Committee really wants to make people think it is doing something, why doesn't it send Joe Blackburn to some other than an almost uncontested democratic stronghold? It had him in Sweet Owen this week, where nearly every man woman and child is a democrat, wasting eloquence that might have been so much better applied elsewhere. It would be just as well to let Joe's jaw rest as to work it in such a county as Owen.

The knock marriage scrape that Mr. J. Fletcher Mareum, of the Catlettsburg Democrat, and Miss Laura Smith got into is not near as serious as at first reported and no trouble is likely to come of the little fun indulged in at the Ashland party. We are glad for the sake of a very interesting young lady that seems to have the call on Mareum, that the matter was exaggerated.

The Mississippi prohibitionists held a State convention this week and very seriously declared against any purpose to form a separate party, but will support office temperance men who will more likely enforce the laws against whisky selling.

CRADDOCK says that the conferring of the degree of Bachelor of Arts upon two young ladies recently by the University of Texas is not a paradox but a pair o' ducks. Pretty good for the old duffer.

We learn that Bro. Montgomery tries to make a point out of our article, which inadvertently used the word "passed" instead of "ratified" by the people, in speaking of the prohibitory law. The legislature cannot delegate its power to pass laws, but it can pass a law and make it operative only when ratified by the votes of the county it is to affect, as was the case here. The legislature can repeal our prohibitory law, but no fair minded man would ask it to do so. Mr. Warren would in no event agree to that, but if petitioned by a large and respectable number of voters, he will have the law amended so that if the people at any time should want to vote on it again, they can do so by taking the proper steps to require the county judge to order it. The right to vote on the question ever or hereafter having been taken from the people, he will restore that right if asked to do so, leaving the question entirely with them, whether they will take advantage of it or not. It is a matter of supreme indifference to him whether the question is ever resubmitted or not. If the people want prohibition they can have it, if they do not they will have the right, which has been taken from them, to say so, that is all.

The Courier-Journal is kind enough to say: "There is not a prohibitionist in Lincoln county who has done as much for the community's morals as Editor Walton." Yet there are among the cranks that compose the third party business men who think that we belong body and soul to the liquor men, because we do not imbibe their views and fall down and worship the 'I am holier than thou' crowd. It is all right, however. We can stand it if they can, for we believe that time will, as it usually does, show that we are right.

BRO. PHILLIPS, of the Lebanon Standard, who successfully passed himself off for a single man at the Press Association meeting, seconds our motion to give the ladies of Owensboro a banquet when they go to Louisville on the promised excursion. We knew he'd do it. He wants to go down and keep up the delusion, but we are "onto" you this time, young man, and we shall contrive to have Mrs. Phillips know that her presence is necessary.

McDow, the cowardly assassin of Editor Dawson, at Charleston, has gone on the war path since he was acquitted by the hybrid jury and threatens to shoot those ministers and editors who have dared to criticize the outrageous verdict that set him free to follow his bent of assassination. Moblaw is always deplorable, but in this case Judge Lynch would have considerable cause for taking action.

The Georgetown Times, whose editor has always been a warm advocate of temperance, says: "The prohibition party seems to be on the down grade. If the whisky traffic can't be prohibited it may be regulated. High license seems to be the best remedy yet offered for the evil."

CHICAGO seems to desire to include the whole of Illinois in her territory. She annexed another suburb Saturday which increased her population 200,000 and made her the largest city in area in the U. S. She will rival New York in numbers, too, if she keeps on, by census-taking time.

The third party people propose to give women suffrage and take it from poor white folks and negroes who cannot read. A vote for their candidate is a vote for that proposition as that is one of the planks of their platform adopted at Indianapolis. May 31, 1888.

RECENTLY Corporal Tanner fell and broke one of his wooden legs and this week he was thrown from a carriage at Connell Bluffs. Unfortunately the old pirate was not hurt either time, but still lives to loot the treasury.

The Baldwin Locomotive Works last week turned out their 10,000th locomotive, it going to the Northern Pacific road. The first engine built at the works weighed eight tons; the No. 10,000 weighed 75 tons.

The Kilrain-Sullivan prize fight is creating great excitement among the sports. It is to occur this week within 200 miles of New Orleans, but as all the governors of States in that territory have declared against it, the location for the mill is not known.

It is said that Kilrain will try to wear Sullivan out by superior agility. In the betting at Baltimore the odds were slightly in favor of Kilrain. The Governor of Mississippi has issued a proclamation forbidding the fight in that State.

James Henry Marshall, a colored man, well-known and esteemed in this community for his worthiness, died on Tuesday last of flux, and was buried on Wednesday afternoon with considerable pomp by the two lodges of which he was a member. It was noted as the largest colored funeral procession ever seen on our streets.

The L. & N. will in a few days let the contract for constructing 23 miles of road up the Powell Valley of Virginia, east of Cumberland Gap, and 48 miles more of the same extension to a connection with the Norfolk & Western, about August 1, 1889. The company has just let the contract for the grading, masonry, trestling, etc., for a double track to Winston Bros. of Minneapolis, Minn., from East Louisville to Anchorage and from South Louisville to Shepherdsville.

The fatal Conemaugh Valley disaster suffered from floods. The water came pouring down the mountain Monday night at Cambria and filled the first floors of the houses, destroying all the furniture that had been saved from the big flood. The water rose five feet next morning in two hours and carried away the foot bridge above the Pennsylvania railroad station. There was danger of the temporary bridge erected by the Baltimore & Ohio going down.

HUNTER—Politics are all the go here now. The Boone Club, from Lancaster, went by here to spend a few days on the river fishing and sporting. There will be a supper at the school-house here on the night of the 11th of July for the benefit of the union Sunday-school, repairing organ, &c. Sidney Dunbar, Harlan Luce, G. P. Bright and others were appointed judge and clerks to act at our election August, 1889. Mrs. Louisa Cox was up Tuesday from Casey getting evidence in Mr. Rigney's and other pension claims. A TERRIFIC BLOW TO COMPETITION!

AND HIGH PRICES.

Experience!

Has taught the people of this town and vicinity that with us an inducement in print is an inducement in fact. Merrily we go on pounding down prices lower and lower and lower, in offering a better quality of goods at lower prices than any other concern in this part of the country. This week we offer a royal spread of tempting bargains and generous values for all who would save dollars as well as make their nickles and dimes do double work.

Look at the following prices: All satineens which were sold at 10c and 12½c will be sold at 8½c; extra qualities of American Satineens which were sold at 20c will be sold at 15c; French Satineens which were sold for 25c will now be sold for 20c per yard. All white goods, flounceings, laces and embroideries will be

The second annual sale of J. B. Haggins' colts realized $110,000 for 103 head. A half brother of King Thomas, that was sold as a yearling for $40,000, was knocked down to Scott Quinton for $22,000.

Proctor Knott's friends will have another chance to buck him on Thursday next for unless Sam Bryant changes his mind before that time the big gelding will start in the Sheridan Stake at Chicago on that day.

P. P. Nunnelley bought of Dr. Arment 98 ewes and lambs, and of John Buchanan 144 at $2.75 per head, and sold James Robinson 80 head at $3.25. He also bought of Ike Herrin 99 lambs at 4.65 and of Perry King 16 at 4½.

The Peabody, Kas., Graphic says that one man alone has bought in its county and Butler in the last few months 560 cattle weighing 835,460 lbs., for $32,558.40. The same paper says the creamery there is a great success averaging 1,500 pounds of good butter daily and sometimes making 2,500 pounds. A yankee must be at the helm.

The Farmer's Review, published at Chicago, has reports from the seven States of Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky, Kansas, Indiana, Ohio and Missouri, which show that their total yield will be 195,373,000 bushels of wheat. With the exception of Kentucky and Indiana, where drought was experienced in April and May, winter wheat arrived at the harvesting stage in good condition and with good prospects of a large per cent. of No. 1 hard.

Parson—"You are a total abstainer, I believe, Mr. Flint." Farmer Skinflint—"Yes, sir, I be. I never tasted liquor but once and that was to the county fair 23 years ago. Hez Hawbuck treated me three times that day, and I got jost dizzy enough to let some scamp pass a lead nickel on me. When I found that out I says to myself 'you've had enough, an' I ain't teched a drop sence, nor I ain't a goin' ter!"—Epoch.

SO FAR AS WEATHER was concerned yesterday was all the most ardent celebrator could wish. It was clear and just cool enough to make living worth the trouble.

THE glories 4th was celebrated for the 113th time yesterday. Stanford didn't take much part, as usual, on the contrary she experienced one of the dullest days imaginable.

THEIR interior JOURNALS took with them their two negro mascots, Henry Robinson and Preacher Williams. They have been at each game and are considered a part of the club.

A CORRESPONDENT at Washington says the charges have been filed against S. M. Peacock, postmaster at Lancaster, but we suppose they are trumped up to excuse the possibility of his removal.

THE Somerset Banking Co., declared a 3 per cent. dividend after paying expenses and taxes—$1,424.34 and carrying $2,277.66 to undivided profits. The capital is $50,000, the loans and discounts $101,803.06 and the individual deposits $55,633.08.

THE L. O. O. F. Lodge, No. 156, at this place, has forwarded the Johnstown flood sufferers $25.

Twine for binders and a number of brand new buggies for sale cheap. Call early and take first choice of the buggies. E. M. Bruce.

A DINT to the wise is sufficient. Read this notice and go straightforward to Chadwick & Armendy, Crab Orchard, and pay your account.

The half rates on the railroads yesterday caused many people to take a trip who otherwise would not. Both trains were late on account of the crowd.

SOLD OUT. J. B. Foster has sold out his half interest in the grocery firm of Metcalf & Foster to Tom Metcalf and his business is in progress. Mr. Foster will retire from the mercantile business for a season and try his hand at agriculture.

IN FULL.—Mr. C. B. Thompson, the clever and capable adjuster of the London, Liverpool & Globe, was here this week and after viewing the ruins and examining the furniture saved from the recent fire, settled the loss with J. B. Paxton at the full amount of the policy—$2,000.

HURRAH FOR THE L. J.s.—Our boys can't be beat. They have wallowed everything they have met this season and the following dispatch shows how they did up the Somersets yesterday at the morning game: "Ten to six in our favor. Hurrah for the INTERIOR JOURNALS! E. C. Walton."

There is some talk that Hon. E. J. Breckinridge, democratic candidate for State Senator, will have opposition in the person of Hon. Wm. Berkele, of Garrard, but it is not authentic. It is also said that Lawyer Davison has aspirations that way, but the woodcock could hardly give sufficient emphasis to his usual remarks before flying, even to think of the fellow in that connection.

It is said that George Gentry, the colored orator, is anxious to make the race for representative, but his white boss is not willing. The latest report is that a conference decided Monday to run Reese Ward, of Crab Orchard, but that for the present no public nomination would be made. The platform will be a straight out repeat by the legislature of the probity of how the object of which being to solidify the colored vote.

THE Lincoln County Building and Savings Association continues to thrive. Secretary Warren has just figured up the profits for the last six months and finds a dividend of 84 cents, equal to about 8 per cent. per annum. The Association has been running just 23 months and to July 1 $25 had been paid on the shares, earning in that time $210 a share. It has paid the shareholders well, has built fully a dozen houses and caused many a man to lay up a little for a rainy day.

THE attention of those having children to educate is called to the advertisement of Garrard College. The faculty is one of the largest in the State and is composed of ladies and gentlemen especially adapted to teach the departments for which they have been selected. President J. W. Taylor was here this week and favorably impressed all who met him as a man of ability and the necessary push to get up a large school, upon which he is fully determined. Send for catalogue for all information you could possibly ask.

GONE TO SOMERSET.—In addition to those mentioned elsewhere, the following members of the club and others went to Somerset Wednesday night to witness the great games of ball yesterday between the INTERIOR JOURNALS and the Waddey Itson's Club: G. L. Penny, T. M. Owings, J. B. Myers, Will Shanks, Robert Davison, J. A. Allen, W. B. Penny, Dick Gentry, C. M. Samuels, Peter Strain, Jr., Tinsley Mershon, Leslie Wilson, Joe Embry, Will Mattingly, C. C. Carson, E. C. Walton, Robert White, Joe Portman, Robert Fenzel.

THE drowning of Allie Lee, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Lee, of Danville, in Dix River last Monday afternoon, details of which are given in the Advocate, is the saddest event that has been chronicled in a long time, made doubly so by the absence of both parents from the county. He was an exceedingly bright boy and a career of usefulness and honor, which was opening up before him, is cut off without a moment's warning. The distressed parents can only look to the Heavenly Father for comfort and consolation. The sympathy of earthly friends, no matter how bravely extended, can avail nothing under such a terrible blow.

THE little dance in honor of the Misses Sandley at the Opera House Tuesday evening was greatly enjoyed by the following couples till 1 o'clock: Miss Emma Sanfley and Hervey Helm; Miss Helen Sanfley and G. L. Penny; Miss Mary McKinney and J. S. Owsley, Jr.; Miss Mina Phelps and E. C. Walton; Miss Anna Shanks and W. A. Tribble; Miss Ella Shanks and T. A. Rice; Miss Sue Ront and R. L. White; Miss Nettie Wray and C. C. Carson; Miss Mary Alcorn and W. A. Alcorn; Miss Bessie Reid and Thomas Lackey; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Kelser, Jr., Messrs. Ed Jones, J. C. Reid, Eph Pennington and G. A. Lackey, Jr., and numerous spectators. Mrs. J. E. Portman furnished the music, which the dancers highly complimented.

THE first of July is past and I insist that those indebted to me will come forward and settle their accounts. I need the money and must have it. H. C. Rupley.

We failed to note in last issue that W. L. Dawson is regularly announced as a candidate for jailer. He is an excellent man, a good citizen and worthy of any honor he would ask of his party.

THE "Merrie Kid Club," composed of the younger society people, held their first meeting with Miss Annie Hale Tuesday night, which proved to be a very enjoyable affair. There are already some 25 members and they propose to assemble at some of the members' homes every two weeks and make things lively. Miss Georgie Wray will entertain the Club next, when the membership will increase to double the present number.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

Elders Spener and Stalford's meeting at Ford closed with 22 additions.

Rev. Dr. Hall, of New York, gets $15,000 a year and a royal parsonage besides.

Elder A. C. Hopkins writes that he will begin a S. S. Institute at Rowland next Monday night, 8th, to continue three days.

The root of religion is the fear of God; the rule of religion is the law of God; the end of religion is to glorify God and enjoy Him forever.

A posse is after the Rev. Mr. Duncan, an Alabama Baptist minister, who ran away with a young girl just after he had buried the wife whom he is supposed to have married.

The State Convention of the Christian church will meet in Versailles on August 20 and continue in session three days. Upwards of 150 ministers and delegates will be in attendance.

The Richmond Clinch has information that Schweißfurth, the Illinois Dutchman, who claims to be the Christ, has sold out and skipped. He ought to have been treated to a coat of tar and feathers before he did so.

Rev. Bartlett, of Lexington, is playing in buck. A church at Augusta, Ga., offered him $5,000, but in order to keep him his own church, the First Presbyterian, raised his salary from $2,500 to $3,500 and furnished him a parsonage besides.

One of the local preachers is so set against the chewing gum habit that he tells us he can hardly restrain himself from throwing the tumid at the nearest one in his congregation whenever his nerves all to pieces by the everlasting motion of her jaws.

There is a good sized row in the Cherry Hill Baptist church in our county. Rev. A. A. Niles, the pastor, has recently become converted to the sanctification idea and preaches it to his flock, a result of which all but 13 of his congregation refuse to attend.—Henderson News.

An Arkansian Sam Jones appears in the person of a Baptist preacher, Rev. W. A. Lindsay. Most of his converts are old people and a singular scene occurred at Carrollton, where they were baptized. One lady, Mrs. Jane Nunnelley, was upward or 80 years, and ten others ranged from 50 to 65. The converts waded into the stream up to their waists and waited until the preacher plunged them beneath the water.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

Theodore Dwight Woolsey is dead. He was a graduate and teacher in Yale nearly 70 years ago, became the head of the institution more than 40 years ago, and nearly 20 years ago resigned because of old age.

Arthur Givens, the 2-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bastin, of Pittsburg, died Tuesday evening of a throat trouble, which resulted in choking the little fellow to death. The remains were interred in Buffalo Cemetery Wednesday.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

Uncle Ben Robinson is very sick. J. B. Mason and W. J. Kinnin, Mrs. Elkin and Henderson are improving.

The National Bank has declared its regular semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent. The Citizens National declared a dividend of 3 per cent.

Our town gets two appointments, so far, under Collector Barnard—Walker Landram, 1st Division Deputy, and W. McJohnston Stamp Deputy.

Col. Charles Gallagher and Fleece Robinson have gone to Clear Water Springs, near Pineville. They expect to be there the remainder of the summer.

C. V. Granger will entertain his friends to-morrow evening. Saxton's band will be in attendance and the occasion will certainly be an enjoyable one.

George Cogar, of Danville, bought about 200,000 pounds of hemp in this county. He has had it in storage here, but has, within the past few days hauled nearly all of it to Danville.

E. W. Lee, of Danville, whose son was drowned a few days ago, has many friends here and they all sincerely sympathize with himself and family in this, the heaviest and saddest sorrow of their lives.

The Daniel Boone Club held their regular meeting yesterday. This club was organized in 1779 and has never since failed to meet on the 4th of July. Its membership is limited to nine and when there is a vacancy a petition for membership must lay over five years before it can be voted upon. The death of Col. J. H. Brice is the only one that has occurred in the club within 20 years.

The Constitutional Convention for the new State of North Dakota will assemble at Bismarck to-day.

Robert Bonner, the owner of Maud S., has offered $60,000 for Axtell, who towed the 3-year-old trotting record at Minneapolis a few days ago. The offer was refused.

Constipation

Doubtless prompt treatment. The results of neglect may be serious. Avoid all harsh and drastic purgatives, the tendency of which is to weaken the bowels. The best remedy is Ayer's Pills. Being purely vegetable, their action is prompt and their effect always beneficial. They are an admirable Liver and After-dinner pill, and everywhere endorsed by the profession.

Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make no use of them in my practice." —Dr. I. E. Fowler, Bridgeport, Conn.

"I can recommend Ayer's Pills above all others, having long proved their value as a cathartic for myself and family." —J. T. Hess, Leithsville, Pa.

"For several years Ayer's Pills have been used in my family. We find them an

for constipation and indigestion, and are never without them in the house." —Moses Grenier, Lowell, Mass.

"I have used Ayer's Pills, for liver troubles and indigestion, during many years, and have always found them prompt and efficient in their action." —L. N. Smith, Utica, N. Y.

"I suffered from constipation which assumed such an obstinate form that I feared it would cause a stoppage of the bowels. Two boxes of Ayer's Pills effected a complete cure." —D. Burke, Saco, Me.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years and consider them an invaluable family medicine. I know of no better remedy for liver troubles, and have always found them a prompt cure for dyspepsia." —James Quin, 90 Middle St., Hartford, Conn.

"Having been troubled with constipation, which seems inevitable with persons of sedentary habits, I have tried Ayer's Pills, hoping for relief. I am glad to say that they have served me better than any other medicine. I arrive at this conclusion only after a faithful trial of their merits." —Samuel T. Jones, Oak st., Boston, Mass.

The following resolutions were made by the Women's Aid Society of McKenney Church:

WHEREAS God in His providence has removed from our midst one whom we all honored and loved, therefore be it RESOLVED, That we as a Society realize with sorrow the great loss sustained in the death of dear Mrs. Owley, who was ever ready to aid us in our work and by her motherly counsel.

2. That we tender our sympathy to the bereaved family and pray God to sustain them in their great sorrow.

3. That these resolutions be entered on the minutes of our Society and a copy sent to the family; also to the INTERIOR JOURNAL for publication.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian has invented and patented the word "discombinuity." It means "stuck up, foolishly proud; in other words, a darned fool," and is a very good word indeed.

—Mrs. Hetty Green, of New York, enjoys an income of $3,000 a day and her total yearly expenses are said to be less than $2,000 a year. Her fortune at present is estimated at $30,000,000 and it is climbing at the rate of more than $1,000,000 a year.

—The American Tribune announces that it has 25,000 signatures of "old soldiers" to its petition to Congress asking for a repeal of the "arrears" clause in the pension law. The repeal would cost the tax-payers of the United States only $200,000,000 already accrued, and only about a billion in expectancy.

—James North, of Lexington, went home and found his wife ironing and taking one of the irons he crushed her skull in several places, then put her head in the fire-place where the irons were heating. Her face and neck were burned to a crisp. He was arrested and jailed at Cynthiana. Great indignation over the crime and lynching is feared.

From the New York Tribune is taken the following interesting table of the popular majorities by which eight States have, in the last two years, defeated prohibition:

Michigan..... 5,645 West Virginia..... 35,574 Texas..... 32,661 New Hampshire 5,000 Tennessee..... 27,995 Massachusetts..... 44,552 Oregon..... 7,995 Pennsylvania..... 188,027

To this must now be added Rhode Island, which did not simply defeat prohibition, but after a long trial of it, repealed its constitutional provision by more than a three-fifths majority of the popular vote. Prohibition is doomed.

How to HEAD OFF A THIEF.—Take a piece of hoop iron 12 or 14 inches in length and punch two holes in one end, then take a small cow bell, beat the other end of the piece of iron and turn it while hot in the clasp or eye of the bell, make a coil of the iron when cold and nail up over the door inside of the room. A thief will never open that door but once. The above is contributed by R. L. White, Esq.

Ten years ago there were 21 railroads who could not interchange cars owing to the gauge. Now all are alike and the cars owned in Maine are seen slipping over the rails in Texas. The railroad system of the United States is declared to be as perfect as a system can be made.

Don't Fool away precious time and money and trifles with your health experimenting with uncertain medicines, while Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is so positively certain in its curative action as to warrant its manufacture in guaranteeing it to cure diseases of the blood, skin and scalp, and all serpentine afflictions, or money paid for it will be refunded.

Stan Reward offered for an incurable case of Catarrh by the proprietors of Dr. Sager's Remedy 50 cents, by druggists.

You Cannot Afford

At this season of the year to be without a good, reliable physician! I am in the house, no cramps, diarrhoea and all inflammation of the stomach and bowels are exceedingly dangerous if not attended to at once. One bottle of Dr. B. D. Bissell's Balsam will do more good in cases of the kind than any other medicine on earth. We guarantee it. A. R. Penny, Druggist.

Why Is It

That people longer always complaining about continual tired feeling? One bottle of Bissell's Blood Purifier and Blood Maker will entirely remove the feeling, give them a good appetite and regulate digestion. A. R. Penny, Druggist.

Across the Mountains to the Sea.

A special excursion from Lexington to Old Point Comfort, Va., will be given under the auspices of the ladies of the Christian church at Lexington at the low rate of $13 for the round-trip. A special train will leave Lexington via the Old Kentucky Route, N. N. & M. V. Co. E. D., July 18, at 6:30 p. m., arriving at Old Point at 6 p. m. next evening. This excursion offers a diversity of scenic beauty not excelled by any other route, passing through Kentucky, West Virginia, through the canyons of New River, across the Alleghany and Blue Ridge Mountains to the city of Richmond, thence down the peninsula for 75 miles through localities made historic during the late war, to Old Point Comfort and Fortress Monroe. Tickets will be good on special train and to return any time and by any train within 15 days from date of sale. Arrangements have been made for side trips to Washington via the Potomac River at a very low rate, and special rates have been secured at the famous Hyatt Hotel at Old Point. This is your chance to make the cheapest trip of the season. For information call on Mr. Barney, Phoenix Hotel, Mr. Boswell, at Clarendon Hotel, or S. A. Bromberg, T. P. A., Lexington.
